Agriculture Dept. May Quarantine in Brucellosis Campaign

Fort Worth, Texas, April 28, 1983 Two Sections, Fifty-two Pages & Insert

tuph & Thangs

QUARANTINE COULD BE TEXAS-SIZED DISASTER ...

On this page and in other pages of this issue of The Weekly Livestock Reporter you will find several stories about brucellosis and pertaining to the efforts to eradicate this disease not only in Texas but about some of the problems in other states. Billions have been spent in this effort and to date the war seems far from won, if that is possible. There are those who figure in order to truly eradicate brucellosis you would just about have to eradicate every worm blooded scavenger alive in the wild, as well as every domestic carrier.

Just the other day the Texas Animal Health Commission received a threat that USDA might have to quarantine Texas cattle because of the lack of progress (their notion) and perhaps this was due in large part to the loss of a ... (CONT. ON PAGE 29A)

Fed Cattle Mixed Hogs Post Gains In Monday Trade

At the central markets on Monday fed cattle prices for the most part moved in a rather narrow range and some points reported a firming trend after last week's declines. Lighter market supplies and an estimated reduction in Monday's cattle kill and a firmer tone to the steer and heifer trade all contributed to the apparent ... (CONT. ON PAGE 29A)

Letter to Texas Animal Health Commission Critical of Enforcement of Eradication Program Work in State of Texas

Fort Worth, Apr. 28-Texas cattle men are asking the state's consumers to join them in seeking passage of new state animal health laws to avert a threatened federal quarantine of the multibillion-dollar cattle industry, says Frates Seelgson, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

The warning, from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service Monday, concerns bovine brucellosis. The disease causes abortion or reduced calving rates, mastitis and an illness called undulant fever, which can be transmitted from infected cattle to man.

The quarantine would shut down almost all interstate movement and sales of beef and dairy cattle from the state. It would cover all cattle, including those not infected with the disease, Seelgson said.

James O. Lee, Jr., acting APHIS administrator, told the Texas Animal Health Commission that if the legislation isn't passed, the only viable option available to his department would be to "impose and enforce a quarantine of the state of Texas."

TAHC supports SB 906 and HB 701, introduced by state Sen. Bob Clagow, D-Stephenville, and state Rep. Bruce Gibaso, D-Godley, to make those ... (CONT. ON PAGE 4A)

WARNING LETTER
 Mr. John Armstrong
 Chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission
 020 Sam Houston State Office Building
 Austin, Texas 78701

Dear Mr. Armstrong:

This Department has closely followed the efforts of the Texas Animal Health Commission to enforce its brucellosis regulations against Mr. R. J. Nunley. While we believe that the Commission has diligently pursued and will continue to pursue the enforcement of its brucellosis program in the State courts and the State legislature, it appears that the effort is losing its momentum.

This Department has a responsibility to prevent the interstate dissemination of brucellosis. The Commission's inability to carry out fully its responsibilities in the joint State-Federal Brucellosis Eradication Program mandates that this Department seriously consider action to protect the other States from the dissemination of brucellosis from Texas.

In view of the support this Department has had from the Commission and Texas cattle producers, the quarantine was not imposed earlier. However, unless the Commission is able to participate fully in the joint State-Federal Brucellosis Eradication Program, the risk with respect to the dissemination of brucellosis will require that this Department quarantine the State of Texas.

We would be happy to have your views and comments before we take such action.

Sincerely,
 James O. Lee, Jr.
 Acting Administrator

ICA's Wheeler Says USDA Letter Idle Threat, Scare Tactic

The recent USDA/APHIS threat to quarantine Texas cattle from interstate movement was dismissed as "just a political threat with little true backing" by Independent Cattlemen's Association President Roy Wheeler.

Minutes before adjournment of Monday's Texas Animal Health Commission meeting, a letter from Dr. James O. Lee, Jr., Acting Director of USDA/APHIS, was dramatically unveiled. It was interpreted by TAHC officials as a threat of a federal quarantine if the state legislature does not approve HB 701 and SB 906 which give state bureaucrats more power over the administration of the brucellosis program.

Wheeler called on legislators to ignore the letter.

"Time nor space permits us to go into the detail necessary to illustrate the importance of this sale offering. Three years ago, Ken Holloway, Royce Nease, Darrell Wiggins and Henri DeLobbe went to France in search of outcross prospects for importation. The genetics available in this offering are, without a doubt, unsurpassed. Names such as Danarus, Biblot, Voltaire, Acrobate, Berlingot, and many more appear in this offering's pedigrees. To those of you not involved in Limousin genetics, the offering will impress you from the standpoint of big, promising young brood cows and herd bull prospects - for those of you involved in E.T. servation Institute that cattle dealers removal of brucellosis tags to enable cows to be sold as "local fresh" animals resulted in deceit and confusion. ICA's Wheeler Says USDA Letter idle Threat, Scare Tactic was signed by a career bureaucrat who stands to benefit most from the program's expansion," Wheeler pointed out.

Remember, President Reagan's official budget for the last two years has called for the phasing out of the Federal Brucellosis Program," Wheeler continued, "one bureaucrat cannot overturn the President's budget. For the letter to have been meaningful it needed to carry the signature of the Secretary of Agriculture, or at least the Deputy Assistant Secretary."

Wheeler noted the letter had been delivered by plane over the weekend without Deputy Assistant Secretary in charge of the APHIS brucellosis program, John Ford's knowledge. It was a clandestine orchestrated event for Texas political reasons, Wheeler stated.

"I am deeply disappointed with USDA taking this action. In the past several months we have worked in good faith trying to increase research to find the real answer to the brucellosis problem. At a recent conference here in Austin, a USDA spokesman from the Secretary's level had assured us that a quarantine 'was not in the works.' In addition, with the knowledge that the President's budget position continues to ask for phase-out of the program, I just can't get too concerned over this mysterious letter."

"It is just an idle threat...a scare tactic. This is not taking steps to finding solutions for ranchers who are working to control brucellosis. It does not take steps toward cutting the outrageous $100 million state and federal taxes spent to support an unworkable program. And, certainly, it does not take steps to reduce the unnecessary expenses and harassment that the program creates for Texas ranchers."

McKellar Ranch Spring Sale Set For May 7

Mt. Pleasant, Texas—The McKellar Ranch Annual Spring Red Brahman Production Sale will be held May 7, 1983. Lunch will be at 11:00 a.m. with the sale to start at 12:00 noon at the ranch at Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Selling will be 28 bred donor heifers, 5 bred donor cows, 20 fancy bred. Removal of the tags prevents identification of the true origin of animals and thus makes it impossible to trace them back to the herds of origin. Erasing the history of animals in this manner creates problems in combating the disease. LCI reported: "A letter should be prepared to go to APHIS suggesting the need for rewriting Regulation 7118 so as to prohibit the removal of ear tags or other identification put there for the purpose of identification to farm of origin. It would also encourage states to prohibit stripping tags in interstate movement."

Nebraska Livestock Dealer Fined For Illegal Shipment

Richard R. Bowen, veterinarian in charge in Nebraska for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said a magistrate of the U.S. District Court, Omaha, Neb., found Bowen guilty on March 9 of shipping brucellosis exposed calves without a permit from the Hutchinson, Kansas, stockyards to the stockyards at Seward.

Bowen explained that federal animal health regulations prohibit the interstate movement of brucellosis reactors or exposed cattle without a permit. In addition, such movements are permitted only for immediate slaughter or to a quarantined feedlot. The interstate movement of brucellosis reactors or exposed cattle from one livestock market to another livestock market for any purpose is prohibited. The illegal movement occurred July 10, 1981.

Cattlemen Take Industry Views To Washington

Washington, April 19.—Texas, agricultural appropriators and beef exports were among the subjects discussed by cattlemen in recent meetings with their members of Congress.

The visit to Capitol Hill was part of the National Cattlemen's Assn. annual spring board meeting in Washington. Present in addition to NCA directors were NCA committee chairmen and vice chairmen and executive officers of affiliated associations.

Issues of importance to the cattle industry also were covered in sessions with officials of U.S. Department of Agriculture, Department of Interior, Office of Special Trade Representative and other executive branch agencies. Board members and other cattlemen met with such top officials as Agriculture Secretary John Block, Interior Secretary James Watt, Ambassador William Brock (Office of Special Trade Representative) and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker.

Some 200 cattlemen spend out through the halls of Congress and the agencies to outline NCA positions on major issues and to discuss first hand various problems involved with government regulations affecting the cattle industry. The annual event is Washington, putting working cattlemen in direct touch with their own lawmakers, is one reason for the effectiveness of NCA and its affiliated associations in the nation's capital, said W.J. (Dub) Waldrup, NCA president.

Here are some of the issues and topics discussed with legislative and regulatory officials:

Government Fiscal Policies. Cattlemen supported maintaining provisions of the 1981 tax legislation including the 1983 tax rate cut, indexing and estate tax changes. Deficits and the economy and reduce real interest rates; deficit reductions should come through across-the-board limits on government spending.

Agricultural Appropriations. Within the tighter agricultural budgets, there should be adequate research—including integrated reproduction management programs, range research and animal health research. The breedlocks program should be funded at a lower level than in the past year but a higher level than first proposed for fiscal 1984.

Transportation. New regulations on truck weights and lengths and legislative issues discussed were immigration reform legislation (including provisions affecting foreign nationals in agriculture); changes in the wild horse laws to make possible limits on wild horse populations; and natural gas deregulation, which can help lower costs of fertilizer, triglyceride, etc.

Beef Exports. Pressure needs to be maintained by U.S. trade officials in efforts to get Japan to liberalize its market for beef. U.S. trade officials feel that progress can be made.

Dietary Advice. USDA's Human Nutrition Information Service indicated that it was naming a committee of scientists to review the government Dietary Guidelines.

Natural Resources. Several issues in the natural resource and environmental areas—such as ag chemicals, grazing fees, and programs affecting both private and public land use—were covered by the cattlemen.

Safety of Beef. Meat inspection and other programs related to safety of beef were discussed.

Transportation. New regulations on truck weights and lengths and

Commodities Comment

Week Ending April 21, 1983

April continues to appear as a crucial month for future prices. Nearly all markets are very volatile and sharp price movements are the order of the day. This is true for grains, metals, livestock and interest rates. Price action similar to what we have been witnessing shows how nervous these markets are. And when markets are nervous—it's usually "bullish." If April is indeed a pivotal month for prices, then all you commodity traders out there better be careful.

The grain has remained locked for several weeks in their trading range. Buying comes into the market on weakness due to the bullishness of the FIK program and the wet spring we are experiencing. There is very little new news to add to the grain picture. I continue to like the long side of new crop beans and meal. Most grains will meet good buying support on price sell-backs. The weather will be the main bullish force at work over the near term. The direction of interest rates will also play a part in determining grain prices.

Writing July beans closed at $8.43, July corn $8.10, July wheat $3.54.

The Mercantile Exchange is in the midst of one of the most severe price breaks I have seen in years. The cattle market has broken nearly $6 in 7 trading days. And hogs have fallen $8 during the same time period. I mentioned several weeks ago that the cattle market was in for a sharp sell-off from the $71 level. June end it's now a fact. Hogs and hedges should begin their seasonal up-move soon but June hogs may hit $48 to $49 before moving higher. Hedges and speculators should sell oil livestock on rallies into the summer. At this writing June cattle closed at $50.40, June hogs $48.02 and July hedges $48.00.

The precious metal markets have been in the midst of sharp rallies. This was to be expected after the sharp sell-off in late February. I mentioned that palladium and platinum should lead the metals (gold and silver) higher and they have. The metal markets appear to be very nervous and searching for direction. At current price levels I believe another sell-off is coming. Crude oil prices appear to be headed lower again and interest rates may have stabilized over the near term. Both of these things could cause a sharp break in metal prices. At this writing June palladium closed at $124.85, June gold $480, June silver $12.15, and June platinum $424.00.

Which way from here?? I have been dragging my feet on being a "bull" on anything and so far I'm only partially correct. Grains and livestock are in the midst of a sharp break but the Dow metals and interest rates have worked substantially higher. April has the earmarks of a pivotal month. I feel that new markets will hit their peak this month before a sharp slide ensues. I'll stick by that forecast. I don't want to be a "bull" in any market for the next several weeks. I like the short side of most everything for the near term.

If you would like further information on speculation or hedging please call Jerry F. Welch at 314-721-8900, Prudential-Bach's Securities, 231 St. Barnston, Suite 1400, St. Louis, MO 63105.

Committee member Jerome Friemel, a Hereford farmer, told the group that the grain pool would work as a marketing agency to promote Texas grain products nationally and internationally. Committee member June Saylor, national president of Women Involved in Farm Economics, discussed the 1982 Agricultural Balance Sheet for the United States and Texas. Mrs. Saylor told the committee the nation lost $144 billion in tax revenue last year because United States agriculture was not at parity. The committee was formed to advise the Governor and the Agriculture Commissioner on the effects of federal agricultural policy and notify the two state officials when their intervention is needed. The committee will also propose new ideas for state and federal policies that would benefit Texas producers. The group will serve as a direct link between state government and the agricultural community throughout Texas. Its 28 members represent a broad spectrum of agriculture and agribusiness in Texas.

Members of the committee include Jerry Bailey, a Hill Country farmer and rancher; Joe Chapa, Sr., Hidalgo County rancher; Lester Crane, Comal County Judge and rice farmer; Tom Cumbie; Jerome Friemel, Hereford farmer; John Gayle, Brazoria County Commissioner, farmer and rancher; Cathy Jo Herman, farmer from Borden; Jim Hutchins, agribusiness representative from Etchell; David Johnson, Chambers County rice farmer; and Carl King, Dimmitt farmer and president of the Texas Corn Growers Association. Also on the committee are Du Kuhlak, a Rockdale rancher, mayor of the town of Rockdale, and representative of the Texas House of Representatives; and president of the Texas Alcohol Producers Association; Mike Levi, Spicewood rancher; Susan McBoe, assistant to the Governor; and former state representative from Del Rio; Mike Moeller, Hays County farmer and president of the Texas Farm Bureau Union (TFU); Jay Neman, Waco farmer and rancher and former TFU president; Tom Perry, Robstown farmer and rancher; Joe Runkin, Ralls farmer and TFU vice president; Ralph Roming, Bowie farmer; June Saylor of Muleshoe, founder of Women Involved in Farm Economics; and Doug Seal of Wellington, president of the Texas Agricultural Caucus and a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Other members are Ralph Sides of Childress; farmers Jack Stallings of El Paso and Bob Surratt of El Paso; farmer Wiley Tabor, former president of the Texas Wheat Growers Association; S.M. True, Plainview farmer and president of the Texas Farm Bureau; Wayne Wilber, a Winnie rice farmer; and Kit Worley, Thorndale farmer and fertilizer dealer.

Federal Land Bank Lowers Interest Rates

and 2 percent on rural residence and farm-related business loans, according to Thomas H. Benson, president.

Effective May 1, 1983, the variable interest rates on farm loans will be 11.00 percent and the interest rate charged on rural residence and farm related business loans will be 11.50 percent.

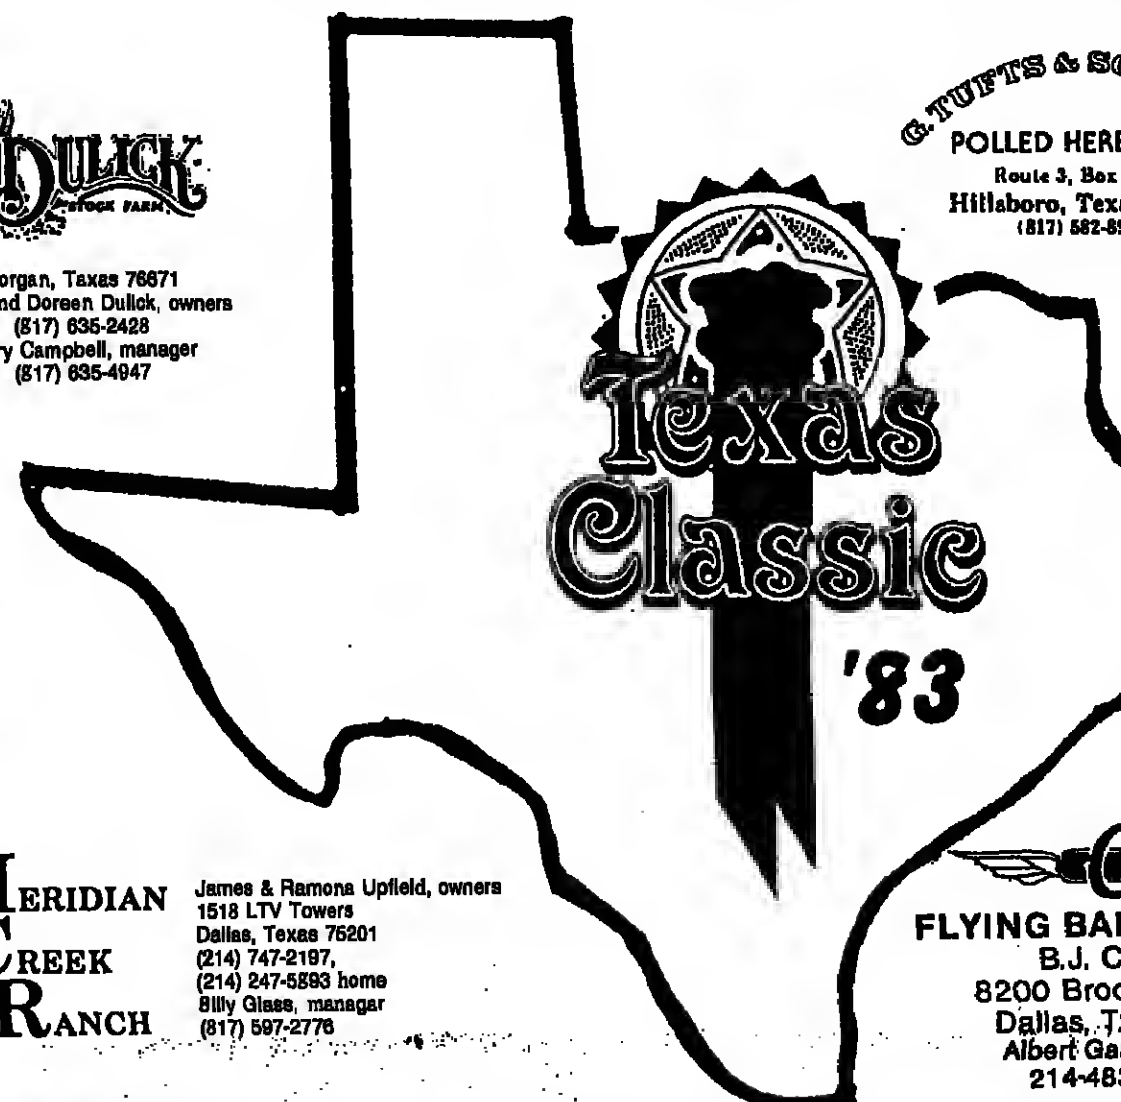

"The adjustments follow reductions made earlier this year," Benson said. On January 1, 1983, the Bank's interest rate on farm and ranch loans was lowered to 11.25 percent. The interest rate for rural residence and farm-related business loans was lowered to 11.75 percent. Bank closed loan fees subsequently were reduced on February 25, 1983 from 4 to 2 percent on farm and ranch loans and from 7 to 4 percent on rural residence and farm-related business loans.

The fee reduction was made possible, said Benson, by the decrease in the Bank's cost of funds. The Federal Land Bank of Texas makes long-term real estate loans throughout the state through its 55 Federal Land Bank Associations. The Bank currently has $2.4 billion in loans outstanding.

Texas Feed Grain Stocks 52% Higher

Austin - Record corn stocks helped push the Texas total stocks of the four major feed grains - corn, oats, barley and sorghum - to 9.1 million metric tons, an increase of 52 percent from a year ago.

According to figures released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, total corn stocks in all positions reached 187.6 million bushels, 29 percent above last year and a record for April.

Total sorghum stocks of 121.9 million cwt. were 75 percent above a year ago. State Statistician Doug Murfield reported that April sorghum stocks were the largest since 1969.

"Stocks of most commodities are up from the previous year, as reduced worldwide demand has failed to keep pace with the increases in production," Murfield reported.

Wheat stocks in all positions are at a record 157.5 million bushels, up 66 percent from last year. While farm stocks have dropped 21 percent from 1982, off-farm wheat stocks have reached a new record high.

Murfield reported that soybean stocks have tripled since a year ago to 10.2 million bushels, while barley stocks have increased 8 percent to 264,000 bushels.

changes in the brucellosis law. Today, cattle in Texas face severe restrictions on movement of cattle out of state as a result of the inability to conform to the new federal regulations on bovine brucellosis. The cost of this curtailment, the times of drought, could be as much as $0 to $10 million dollars per year to the industry.

Seeligson, a San Antonio cattleman, said, "The new brucellosis law must be enacted if we are to avoid this economic impact. The quarantine and equally restrictive import regulations by other states can be avoided if the new bill is enacted this session. TSCRA strongly supports the passage of the new law."

The greatest negative impact will be on commercial cattle operators if the bill fails to pass, Seeligson emphasized. Texas exports about two million head of cattle and calves per year.

Under quarantine, oil heifers and bulls over six months of age must come from a herd which has had two completely negative tests 120 days apart, the last test having been done within 30 days of movement. All certified free herds lose their status unless tested three times a year.

In times of drought, as many as 8.5 million head of cattle per year move from Texas to grass outside the state. If cattle were denied access to such grass or other markets and were sold in Texas for slaughter at a 30 to 40 percent discount, the cost could be as much as $100 million dollars per year, he said.

Registered cattle breeders, who supply pureblood seedstock to commercial and other registered cattle herds, export approximately 20,000 head of breeding cattle per year. A survey of registered operators showed that they believe they would suffer about a 25 percent discount on their stock if forced to sell only in Texas. This would impose a loss of about five million dollars per year.

The restricted movement of show cattle exhibited to the state's major livestock shows because of the quarantine would reduce or eliminate such shows as Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Dallas and El Paso. The loss in state revenues would be many millions of dollars per year, Seeligson warned.

With the quarantine, the two-compartment plan for Texas, where West Texas has greater freedom of cattle movement than East Texas with its higher rate of infection, would be lost. All Texas cattle would have the same restrictions under the quarantine.

"The prospect of a federal quarantine or equivalent state curtailment of cattle movement poses a enormous burden for Texas cattlemen and consumers, but this impact can be avoided completely if the new brucellosis legislation is enacted in the present session," Seeligson reiterated.

Simmental Youth Event Scheduled For Louisville

Boxema, MT. Junior members of the American Simmental Association, their families and advisors will gather in Louisville, Kentucky June 12-16 for the 1983 "Summer Classic".

"The Classic is the number one event of the year on our junior calendar," said ASA Executive Vice President, Earl B. Peterson. "It has been designed to combine the elements of competition, educational programs, interaction with other Simmental breeders and recognition for achievement. The program has proven to be both unique and effective."

"Information packets, complete with schedules, registration forms, and all other pertinent information have been mailed to ASA junior members," Peterson said. "However, interested individuals who have not received their packets should contact the ASA office immediately, since the deadline for registration is May 14."

Planning for the event is shared by the host Kentucky Simmental Association and the American Simmental Association's Youth and Education Committee, which is chaired by ASA Trustee Jim Mitchell of nearby Georgetown, Kentucky.

"The Classic will feature team and individual competition in a variety of events," Mitchell explained. "The schedule includes Public Speaking, a

Daw Farms Joins Simmental Association

Daw Farms owned by Hugh & Joyce Daw of Joquin, Texas, has recently become a lifetime member of the American Simmental Association. ASA is unique among beef breed associations in that it offers only a one-time, one-payment life membership. Once a person joins the Association, there are no future dues or membership payments.

"We want to extend a sincere welcome," said ASA Executive Vice President, Earl B. Peterson, from the Association's headquarters in Bozeman, Montana.

The Daw family is enthusiastic in their discussion of Simmental cattle. They have greater size, outstanding milk production, and strong demand for breeding animals among the superior characteristics of the breed.

However, the active independence of cattle folks surfaces with more than a little anger at the idea of having Federal bureaucrats dictate what they can and can not do. This raises some serious questions. Very, very serious questions. To start with, we should realize that Texas, Texas and Texas huge cattle numbers have been thorns in the sides of other cattle producing states since the Longhorns first carried fever ticks.

PIK Disposition Date Extension Possible

Washington — U.S. Senator Roger W. Jepsen (R-Iowa) announced today that the Department of Agriculture has extended the final disposition date for crops entered into the PIK Program.

On April 6, 1983, Senator Jepsen wrote to Secretary of Agriculture John Block requesting this extension. In his letter the Iowa Republican explained that an extension of 30 days or longer would not only keep conservation cover on the fields, but would preserve wildlife through the nesting season.

"Being a wildlife enthusiast and conservationist," Jepsen said, "I am extremely pleased with this decision. The extension is available on a nationwide basis and farmers must individually file a request for extension with the local or state ASRS office. In addition, the farmer must pay the cost for ASRS to examine the field to ensure that the crops are not harvested for sale."

The extension applies only to small grains, such as oats, wheat, barley, and rice.

Judge Rules In Favor Of California On Beef Promotion

An assessment on out of state beef shipments into California was ruled constitutional April 21 by U.S. District Court Judge Rosal Ramirez in Sacramento. In a 20 page written decision, Judge Ramirez ruled on behalf of the defendants and denied relief from the law which was sought by the plaintiffs.

The California Beef Council (CBC) is pleased with the decision of the court and we believe this will lead to an equitable way of promoting beef in California. Now all those who share in the benefit of a California marketing program will share in its funding," said James Anderson, CBC executive manager.

The suit questioned California law which imposes an assessment on boxed beef, chilled carcasses, and bone beef shipped into California. This assessment is equivalent and does not exceed the current $1 per head fee placed on cattle in California.

The out of state portion of the law was never in effect because of the lawsuit. According to the California Department of Food and Agriculture, it will proceed with implementing the regulations to collect funds from out of state packers. The $1 a head for live cattle within California has been collected since February, 1982, when AFI became law.

The funds collected are for the program. The legislated responsibilities of the FRC are to implement programs in the areas of promotion, research, education and public information.

Cotton Leads Drop In Crop Sales

Texas farmers got about $800 million less from crop sales last year compared to 1981, with cotton sales taking the sharpest decrease—from $1.4 billion to $875 million. Estimated crop sales totaled almost $8.8 billion in 1982 but were down due to poor prices caused by huge stockpiles of most farm commodities; together with decreased export demand and decreased exports, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Also, weather losses were heavy in some areas, particularly in the South Plains. Grain sorghum was the second leading cash crop with receipts of $619 million followed by wheat at $499 million.

Lawrence R. Roberts Ranch

Registered Herefords

COMPLETE DISPERSION

Monday - MAY 16, 1983 - London, Ark.

I-40 Exit at London, on US 64, 1 Mile West, 1 Mile North

Since 1944, for going on 40 years, we have designed our breeding program to meet, and actually anticipate, the changing needs of the beef industry. Today the herd is on target with the kind of performance that is in demand — over 80 percent of our herd has MBVs of 100 or more and the average age of the cow herd is only six years old. This is top performance in young cattle — a great foundation opportunity.
